PRESIDENT'S REPORT

In response to an extremely concerned member I applied to the Council for Aboriginal Reconciliation for a copy of that body's submission to the Commonwealth Government called Going Forward. Amongst many recommendations one is of great concern to the Fellowship – Page 87, paragraph 67, states: "The council recommends that the celebration on January 26th as Australia Day is not accepted by indigenous and many other Australians, and that the nation should find another suitable day which can be supported by all Australians as THE national day".

We are indeed indebted to Past President Beryl Lewis for passing on to the Fellowship detailed First Fleet memorabilia collected during her years as President. I am still in the process of collating the mass of material relating, not only to the history of the Fellowship, but of events of the decade leading up to our bicentenary. Thank you, Beryl.

By all accounts the Glebe Walk organised by Beverley Naughton was a success both financially and socially. Bev has organised an excursion on 8 October. A report of this will be in the next Newsletter.

In the first weekend in December I shall visit the Northern Rivers Chapter – a group of proud First Fleeters who meet together in fellowship every two to three months. I was saddened to hear of the passing of Hilda Jackson #3053 who was an extremely proud First Fleeter and indeed was instrumental in the formation of the Northern Rivers Chapter.

In the last Newsletter you may have read in detail of the honour conferred on Mollie Gillen by the University of Sydney. Mollie has written to me accepting the honour recommended by your executive that she be awarded Honorary Life Membership at our next annual meeting.

Speaking of annual meetings the Fellowship will be holding this on Sunday, 5 November next, at First Fleet House. I realise that in these times it can sometimes be difficult to make an extra commitment – but we do need your help – we are an extremely viable family historical society, unique in membership, and with considerable assets. Sydney metropolitan members please consider (1) nominating for position as a Director or (2) giving help at the office for a few hours weekly. Please if you are at all interested give me a call at the office on a Monday 360 3788, 360 3988.

Again, if you have not renewed your membership please do so now and any extra change – 'Buy a Brick'. Our aim is to clear the mortgage in 1996.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

I have received a number of inquiries from Mary Turner descendants concerning my help in locating the late Thea Rowe's connection with the actor Errol Flynn. I have located my notes and the name Ada Batty appears as a common family relation. Ada Batty, as I recall, connected to Errol Flynn's mother through a family from Balmain named Thompson.

Errol Flynn was most definitely not an Irishman as some of his biographers mention. His Kyogle-born father migrated to Belfast later in his life to take up an academic post there.

Hi Folks

V.P. Day celebrations commenced for all Australian Forces on 12 August 1995, with a march in Sydney following the traditional Anzac Day route.

Mrs June Bigham descendant of First Fleeter Ann Forbes, along with 300 Ex AWACs took part in the parade.

During the war June served in the 1st R.S.D. (Return Stores Depot) stationed at Rosebery in the capacity of Private NF 443366 June Kavanagh. She recalls being on the switchboard when the Officer in Charge, Major Daniels, asked her to announce over the P.A. system that "PEACE HAS BEEN DECLARED" and all ranks were to assemble in the sergeants' mess. This would have been a wonderful announcement to so many Australians, in particular this meant to June the homecoming of her fiancée Corporal David Bigham who was serving in Borneo.

June, an ardent family historian and for many years a member of the Executive of The Fellowship of First Fleeters, has been the effervescent familiar face that many people can relate to at First Fleet House on a Wednesday.

Thousands of crosses in remembrance were placed here on 15/8/95. They were to be burned and the ashes scattered around the War Memorial in Hyde Park.

On 15 August along with so many Australians we lined the streets of Sydney for the ticker-tape parade to pay tribute to the men and women who gave their all to protect this great country of ours and to remember those who had fallen.

A variety of floats depicting the 1940s era were intermingled with veterans and representatives of various organisations honouring our Forces and gave a great carnival atmosphere to the parade, which concluded at Darling Harbour.

At Hyde Park wooden crosses were planted by the ever grateful public to show their gratitude for their freedom in this great country. These crosses are to be cremated and the ashes scattered in the vicinity of the War Memorial on Remembrance Day.

Tumblong Park then came alive with the parade participants and the public joining in with the artists and big bands who presented a wonderful concert. Bobby Limb did a great job as M.C.

At the conclusion of the concert, friends and strangers alike embraced to the tune of Auld Lang Syne with thousands of our National Flag being waved above heads creating a spectacular sea of Red White and Blue.

A great day had by all, honouring our bravest of the brave, what a wonderful day to have been a participant in

EDWARD GOODIN 1765-1839

First Fleeter Edward Goodin is buried in St. Anne's Church cemetery, Ryde, with other members of his family.

Edward Goodin came to this country on the Scarborough with the First Fleet after being found guilty of theft of to pieces of woollen cloth, six and a half yards each.

At Port Jackson on 24 October 1788 he was found guilty of playing cards at 2.00am. He only received 50 lashes due to him being a first offender.

On 27 December 1790 Edward Goodin married Ann Thomas. Ann Thomas had come out on Lady Juliana in 1789. They had 13 children, some dying in infancy.

Ann Goodin died in 1830 aged 61 years and Edward Goodin died at Hunters Hill and was buried on 8 January 1839 aged 77 years.

The St. Anne's Churchyard Trust has been restoring the cemetery and in the process replacing tombstones back to their original sites. We are pleased to report that the tombstones of Edward Goodin and other members of the family have been restored to their original sites.

These tombstones, with others, were on a pile of tombstones and kerbing in the yard for a number of years.

The Churchyard Trust has given the Fellowship permission to attach a memorial plaque on Edward Goodin's tombstone.

The Trust is seeking contributions for its restoration program and an appeal is made to any Edward Goodin descendants to make a donation to the Trust for this worthy historical restoration project.

Remittances may be made payable to 'St. Anne's Churchyard Trust' and sent to PO Box 97 Ryde 2112.

EVERINGHAM BICENTENARY

The Royal Australian Historical Society is conducting a coach excursion following the footsteps (as near as possible) of the Matthew Everingham attempt to cross the Blue Mountains in 1795. This was one of the earliest attempts to cross the Blue Mountains and is therefore of notable significance.

We will visit the Vale of Avoca Lookout, Mt Tomah Gardens, Tomah South and on to Mt Wilson where we will have lunch and a tour of Yengo, one of the largest and oldest gardens. We will also visit lookouts at Mt Wilson.

Time permitting we will return home via Wilberforce in order to see Everingham's grave.

Bring a picnic lunch and afternoon tea.

DATE: Saturday, 11 November 1995

TIME: 9.00am to 6.00pm

PLACE: Coach departs History House, 133 Macquarie St, Sydney.

COST: First Fleet members, $41; non-members $46; includes morning tea and entry to gardens.

The bicentenary of the near-successful crossing of the Blue Mountains by these three occurs in 1995. They covered an area which was unknown to Europeans at that time. Fortunately Matthew Everingham wrote many details of this journey in a letter which has made it possible to follow fairly closely the route taken by these explorers.

THE LORD - KABLE LINK

Shirley Lord, #712

Convicts Henry Kable and Susannah Holmes with their small son Henry jun. sailed with the First Fleet aboard Friendship and arrived at Port Jackson on 26 January 1788. The story that Henry carried Governor Phillip ashore on his shoulders at Sydney Cove on that day has been handed down by descendants, but I believe it has been challenged.

Henry and Susannah married on 10 February 1788 along with four other couples, making them amongst the first to be wed in the settlement. They had 11 children all of whom lived to adulthood except Enoch who died in infancy.

While Henry was still serving his sentence he was appointed an Overseer by Governor Phillip and later a Chief Constable. After receiving a free pardon he was granted land in 1794 and became a successful merchant and landowner.

In 1805 he formed a partnership with James Underwood and Second Fleet convict Simeon Lord in a very profitable sealing trade.

However, the partnership was dissolved by around 1809 after they fell foul of Governor Bligh whose rules and regulations regarding transshipment of cargoes, etc, restricted their trading. Simeon and Henry also fell out and there was litigation regarding a large amount of money owed by Kable to Lord.

The Kables later moved to Windsor where their house at 25 North Street still stands and is National Trust classified. Last year at the Hawkesbury Bicentenary celebrations at Windsor the coachdriver photographed it as I stood at the gate.

Susannah died in 1826 and Henry on 16 March 1846. They are both buried in St. Matthew's churchyard at Windsor.

Simeon also became a successful merchant/businessman and attained a high degree of social standing in the Colony becoming one of the richest men. He was befriended by Governor Macquarie who made him a magistrate in Sydney. He owned large tracts of land in and around Sydney, especially the southern suburbs, he was also a renowned auctioneer.

Among the homes he owned was a mansion in Macquarie Place, also Banks House, Botany.

He married Mary Black and they had 10 children. Simeon died on 29 January 1840 and his vault is now at Pioneer Park Botany.

Henry and Simeon were drawn together in those early days and this story is to show how descendants of those pioneers were drawn together again some 145 years later when I married into the Lord Family, not knowing then the association between Kable and Lord. So my daughter and son and my grandchildren are sixth and seventh generation Australians respectively through Henry Kable and fifth and sixth generation respectively through Simeon Lord.

FELLOWSHIP'S VICE-PATRON STILL CALLS AUSTRALIA HOME

After serving the last three years in London as Head of the Defence Staff, Commodore Paul Kable has returned to take up a posting in Canberra as Director General Force Development (Sea).

As a keen student of family history, he made good use of leisure time to do Kable research in Suffolk and looks forward to presenting it. He succeeded in securing photographs of original documents including some handwriting of Henry Kable's great-grandfather, who was the Parish Clerk at Laxfield, and that of Henry's sister.

These show that for five generations at least their name was spelt Keable. He also acquired an original newspaper of July 1789 which printed an extract of Henry's 1788 letter to his mother in Suffolk. This was rather an expensive acquisition, not because of Henry's letter, but because it also reports the storming of the Bastille!

Last October, for the second year, Commodore Kable was invited to lay a wreath at the Arthur Phillip Memorial in Bath, on the commemoration of his birthday, and to propose the toast at the luncheon. It was published in the official program that he was representing the Fellowship of First Fleeters.

His time away enabled him to travel around the UK and Europe and be privileged to attend special occasions such as the D-Day Commemorations this year and the recovery of the Australian Unknown Soldier on the Somme last year. But, to quote the Commodore, "... we are more certain than ever that Australia is the best place to live."
